Dear Dick:

Please find enclosed a set of documents given to me by a visiting free lance journalist who is planning a book on Jonestown. He received a quantity of material from one of the surviving Temple members still resident in Lamaha Gardens who purportedly found them under a pile of cases of empty beer bottles. He culled out what he considered to be the most interesting documents which he shared with me. He states that he expects to share the whole with the FBI in San Francisco upon his return there. [redacted] B6

It may well be that Don already has copies of this material from the Jonestown documents. The handwritten notes are said to be in Sharon Amos' handwriting, however, and appear to be notes of telephone calls or meetings, possibly used for reporting by radio to Jonestown, made during Congressman Ryan's visit.

The bells of St. Margaret's across the street are tolling for Fr. Darke (he is being buried from Brickdam Cathedral), and Main Street seems rather empty -- although it may just be my imagination.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Richard A. Dwyer
